FR12 - Is there food or beverage marketing on the school campus during the school day? If yes, do the marketed items meet Smart Snacks criteria?

Federal Rule language states that schools may only "permit marketing on the school campus during the school day of those foods and beverages that meet the nutrition standards under 210.11 and promote student health and reduce childhood obesity." School marketing includes the name or depiction of products, brands, logos, trademarks, or spokespersons or characters, on any property or facility owned or leased by the school district or school. This includes any facilities used during the school day for school-related activities including school buildings and campus; outside and areas adjacent to school buildings; athletic fields; school buses; and parking lots. Note that marketing can be found in many locations, including: signs, scoreboards, sports equipment; curricula, textbooks, websites used for educational purposes, or other educational materials (both printed and electronic); exteriors of vending machines, food or beverage cups or containers, food display racks, coolers, trash and recycling containers, etc.; or advertisements in school publications, on school radio stations, in-school television, computer screen savers and/or school-sponsored Internet sites, or announcements on the public announcement (PA) system.
